

Nobody's ever going to suspect anything here, just some community minded individuals helping things grow.

Stashing the haul in a kids school yard, how cold and calculating, but who would suspect?

Busted on your birthday by none other than Inspector Sam.

Those are definitely not raspberries.

From your Quorum buddies

A stealthful band of ninja thieves infiltrate the secreted garden at 315 Alcott Cres. Any Columbian drug lord would be green with envy if he saw their haul...
